

Expectations of Assistant Professors

Assistant professors seeking promotion at the University of Wisconsin- Madison are expected to develop a scholarly program having a clear path of increasing trajectory towards national and/or internationally recognition in their area of expertise. They shall uphold the position description and expectations of their letter of offer while following Faculty Policies and Procedures Guidelines and guidelines for tenure as published by the division for which they shall be evaluated. They are expected to serve on departmental, college, university, industry, and/or national committees.

Posted 12/8/2006